'Tony-on-the-Spot':

Suspicious Officer Balks Burglary

There was something strange in the way the man on the sidewalk was looking at various store windows and doors when Police Lieutenant Tony DeOcampo was driving to the Menlo Park police station shortly after 10 Sunday night.

Before the lieutenant's curiosity was satisfied, several hours later, the police department had arrested a burglar in action and his wife as an accomplice.

As the Lieutenant tells the story, he was driving east on Santa Cruz avenue near Chestnut street, when he noticed a person on the sidewalk, looking at the window and door transom of Maurice Williams Beauty Salon. Keeping his eye on the man, the lieutenant drove on when he noticed the man turn back and walk in the opposite direction.

LT. DE OCAMPO

The police lieutenant parked his car in plaza number one, and as he watched, the man stepped on the glass door handle at the Lux Cleaners, 1135 Chestnut street, and disappeared through the transom into the building.

"It was just as neat as you please," the still astonished officer reports.

Two inspectors and four officers responded to the lieutenant's call for assistance, and they surrounded the building. Three or four minutes later, the subject shouted, "Okay, you've got me," and emerged from the building.

While he was being questioned at the station, officers scouted the area. Lt. DeOcampo again was "at the right spot at the right time," when he found a car on Oak Grove avenue, with a woman asleep under a coat. The car belonged to the burglar, investigation showed, and the woman turned out to be the burglar's wife, who reportedly admitted knowledge of her husband's plans to commit a burglary to raise funds for an anticipated child. No charges were placed against her by District Attorney Keith Sorenson.

CHARGED

The burglar, David Roy Forrester, 19, of 292 Village way, South San Francisco, was charged not only with burglary, but also with possession of narcotics after officers found two marijuana cigarettes in his clothing. He is being held en route to Oregon, where he had been placed on probation.

Forrester was arraigned in Southern District Municipal Court Tuesday and preliminary hearing set for Sept. 10.

In his 12 years with the Menlo Park police department, Lt. DeOcampo has never had the experience of being "on the spot" when a crime was being planned and carried out. The father of two girls, aged 11 and 9, DeOcampo says "this doesn't happen very often." He considers himself more of a "rubberneck" than a "hero" and adds, "it's just part of the job."

4 Crashes Mar Weekend

Seven traffic accidents marred the four-day Labor Day weekend for Menlo Park and Atherton police departments.

Four of the accidents reported involved no injury to persons and were considered "routine" by officers.

On Saturday, two drivers involved in a crash at the intersection of El Camino Real and Oak Grove avenue were taken to Palo Alto Hospital for treatment of bruises and abrasions. Officers report that Mayumi Takayama, 26, of 37 Church street, Mountain View, was driving north on El Camino when he struck a car driven by Eugene Frederick Morton, 51, 160 San Anselmo street, San Francisco, who was crossing on Oak Grove with the newly changed green light.

Early Monday morning in Atherton, C. W. Mayo, Jr., 21, who is stationed at the Alameda Naval Air Station, was driving south on El Camino Real when the front "A" frame of his auto collapsed. The car went out of control striking a power pole and stopped after it crashed a cement culvert. Mayo and a fellow seamon, were taken by ambulance to Sequoia Hospital and released the following day. The crash occurred 700 feet north of the Stockbridge avenue intersection.

The third injury accident happened at 1:40 a.m. Tuesday, and also involved a crash into a pole. Menlo Park police report that Carl LeRoy Evans, 34, of 045 South Winchester road, San Jose, apparently went asleep while southbound on El Camino. Awakened when the car struck the right curbing, Evans attempted to veer it off from striking buildings nearby. The car severed a telephone pole, and came to rest between a building at 1265 El Camino Real and the sidewalk, just missing a second pole. Evans, and his passenger, Delores Nilli, 34, San Jose, were treated at Palo Alto Hospital for minor injuries. Extensive damage was caused to the auto.

City Views New Civic Center Plan

"You'll Go Down There . . .

. . . Explains Tom Brodwin, 12, to Rebecca Geppert, 11, in a pre-opening visit to the grounds and buildings at Willow school. Tom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Berlin, 706 Regal court, attended classes from kindergarten through sixth grade at Willow. This September he will attend Menlo Oaks school, across the way. His companion, daughter of Mrs. Doris Geppert, 11 Coleman place will be in the sixth grade at Willow, returning there from having attended classes at O'Connor school last year. Tom was on the school grounds collecting food for a pet lizard. Becky was "just passing through" to visit a friend in the neighborhood.

Councilman Offers Revised Layout

In an effort to help pin down the city thinking on a proposed $1,200,000 bond issue to be taken to the voters April 14, 1959, two council members came to a work session Tuesday night armed with schematic sketches of what might be done at the future Menlo Park civic center. Both proposals will be turned over to the planning commission, which is now preparing a finalized plan.

Councilman Ira Bonde presented a crayon drawing of his thinking on location of the future buildings on city property at Burgess Park, stating that he "believed definitely that the center should face on Ravenswood avenue."

Bonde took exception to a schematic drawing prepared two years ago by Planning Consultant Kingsford Jones and recommended locating the proposed Youth Center closer to other recreation facilities in the park.

A second schematic plan—for a parking plaza—was presented by Councilman Michael Belangie, who said that it had been prepared by Simpson & Stratta, who had developed a similar project for the City of Stockton.

Unfolding of the drawings came at the close of an hour's discussion of the bond issue. Earlier in the session, at the insistence of Mayor pro-tem Vaile Andrus the council reaffirmed its previously announced intention of allowing Menlo Park voters to decide the fate of a $600,000 underpass on Willow road.

Remainder of the proposed bond would include $300,000 for recreation and parks; $150,000 for the Youth Center, and $150,000 for a new police station.

City Manager John R. Johnson advised that the recreation commission was busy preparing details of projects to be included within its proposed figure, and that Chief of Police George Potter had already listed needs for the future police building.

Members of the council expressed concern about lack of information on space needs, and location of buildings on the city's property. They also called for "expert" advice on the details of financing repayments of the bond, and whether or not to "float" the issue all at one time, or to stagger it out as the capital improvements needs became critical.

Manager Johnson reported that the city's planning director was already working with the planning commission on details of the civic center plan. He added:

"At the last planning commission meeting it (the center plan) was given a high priority in the work schedule. I know the commission will want to sit down with the council several times before the plan is completed."

As for the financing, the council debated the pro's and con's of paying back the bonds from 1) sales tax receipts, (2) going to the banks for a loan, or (3) using general obligation bonds.

Building Rockets To $721,000 During August

Thirteen new homes started during the month of August accounted for more than one-half of the total valuation of building permits issued during the month.

The new residences, with a total valuation of $327,000, led the month's listings which totaled 48 permits, valued at $721,030.

August, 1958, was almost $500,000 ahead of August of last year, when 35 permits were issued with a total valuation of $270,500.

In addition to the 13 homes, there were 14 alterations, at $31,400 valuation; two apartments, at $46,000; 12 non-residential new construction, $104,830; and five alterations, non-residential, $210,800.

Building Inspector James D. Steiger reports that during the first eight months of the year 339 permits have been issued with a total valuation of $3,634,240. The listings include 21 new units, at $373,000.

Last year, at the end of August, the City of Menlo Park had issued 384 permits, valued at $4,622,892.

Willow Road Job Seen As First Need

City councilmen Tuesday night agreed to wait the decision of the voters in November on a proposed change to the state constitution concerning use of state gas tax funds before go ahead with details of local major street improvement programs.

At the same time, it was agreed that regardless of the fate of ballot proposition, the city would proceed with getting estimates of costs for acquiring rights-of-way for the improvement of Willow road, between Dumbarton bridge and Middlefield road and to complete engineering specifications for improvement of Santa Cruz avenue from San Mateo drive to the city limits.

If the ballot issue is successful, the council indicated that it would like to go ahead immediately with improvements on Santa Cruz avenue, Valparaiso aveand on Alma street.

The ballot proposition, if passed, would allow cities to issue bonds for major street projects using 25 per cent of the annual gas tax allocationa to retire the bond issue over a 20-year period.

City engineering consultant Cecil Longson told councilmen that he had set up a three-year program based on an annual gas tax allocation of $80,000 which would cover costs of the Santa Cruz, Valparaiso and Alma street projects. He estimated a total of $141,000 would be available during the period for major street work.

Councilman Ira Bonde raised the issue of needed work on Willow road by protesting.

Longson advised that he believed that a complete improvement job kas necessary on the street, which has no base. He pointed out that the project had been omitted from his list because there would not be enough gas tax money to do the complete job.

When last estimated, the Willow road project would cost between $90,000 and $100,000, Longson added. He estimated that total cost of acquiring rights of way and street improvements would now be close to $160,000.

When Bonde suggested that the state should share part of the cost, Longson replied,

"I've heard statements that the state may take Willow some day, but I don't think we'll see it in our lifetime."

CAMERAS STOLEN

Two cameras valued at a total of $438 were taken from the Plaza Camera Center, 703 Santa Cruz avenue, Tuesday morning at 7:30.

Police report that someone had broken the plate glass window and then reached in and helped themselves.

Committeeman Named:

Rev. R. M. Wheaton to Organize New Atherton Baptist Church

The Rev. Robert M. Wheaton, 1131 Sherman avenue, has been named organizing pastor for the Atherton Baptist Fellowship, it was announced this week.

At the same time, names of members of a steering committee which will plan future activities of the congregation, were also announced. The new congregation has been negotiating for rental space at Encinal school, where services are to be held.

Reverend Wheaton, a 1955 graduate of Ottowa University at Ottowa, Kans., is married and is the father of one child.

He was appointed to his present position by the Burlingame Baptist church, which has been named sponsor for the Atherton group.

Herb Anderson, chairman of the steering committee, said that the new church organization is designed to serve the area between Menlo Park and Redwood City, where Baptist churches have long been established.

He said plans call for the eventual purchase of property, and construction of a church edifice to meet the needs of the congregation.

Anderson indicated that the Atherton Baptist church need not necessarily establish its permanent quarters within the limits of the town, but would plan location of its facilities in keeping with the needs of parishioners.

Following his graduation from Ottowa U., where he was active in athletics as well as a member of the Student Council and Religious board, he attended the Berkeley Divinity School, from which he received a B.D. degree earlier this year. He was a Knights' Templar scholarship winner while at the latter school.

Besides scholarship and student activities, his experience has included work as central area vice-president of the National Baptist Youth Fellowship; assistant pastor of Ruhamah Baptist church at Rantoul, Kans.; assistant pastor of New Hope Baptist Church at Wellsville, Kans.; pastor of the Quenemo Federated church at Quenemo, Kans.; youth director for the Valley Baptist church at Walnut Creek; and interim pastor at the First Baptist church at Turlock.

Members of Anderson's committee include, besides himself, Everett Carlson, Miss Doris Moberg, Lafe Bottorf, Robert Anthony, Howard Davis, Carl Stoscher, Elizabeth Grisach ,and Mr. and Mrs. Mary Elliott.

FIRE BURNS CURTAINS

A lighted cigarette thrown into a wastebasket Sunday noon ignited a tissue handkerchief and caused $500 damage to bamboo curtains at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frist, 1431 Mills court.

An Old Label Returned . . .

. . . to Santa Cruz avenue and Johnson street this week, designating the present location of the Menlo Park Presbyterian church as scene of the Camp Fremont Dental clinic, when a major part of the city was taken over for army training grounds. Shown giving a preview of the sign are Joseph B. Kelly, standing, and Art Stadler, members of the volunteer committee in charge of plans for the 319th Engineers' Homecoming Sept. 20. Signs are to be situated at various points throughout West Menlo Park, telling what army units were in training at the various locations 40 years ago.

Teachers Face 'Big Day'

Teachers and administrators of the area's public schools were meeting this week, putting final touches on preparations for next week's opening of school.

The Sequoia High School District's 650 employees, including more than 400 certificated teachers, made up the largest single group to be participating in indoctrination courses in this area. In the Menlo Park Elementary School District more than 90 instructors were getting ready for the opening of classes.

In the Ravenswood School District, some 5000 youngsters are expected to return to classes; more than 2400 are expected at the five schools of the Menlo Park Elementary School District and 1200 are expected when Las Lomitas district's two schools open their doors.

Sequoia High School District will open two new schools: The new Ravenswood High School is expected to have about 700 students, 1050 are expected at Woodside and Menlo-Atherton, which last year closed with more than 2600 students, will reopen to greet an estimated 2100 this year.

Classes at the various schools may begin at various hours, according to District Superintendent Dr. Rex Turner, because of the necessity of moving transportation equipment from one school area to another. However, he explained Menlo-Atherton's workday will, under present scheduling, get underway at 8:15 a.m. Monday.

The high schools will open on that day, as will classes in the Ravenswood and Las Lomitas districts. In the Menlo Park district, actual opening of classes will be held over until Sept. 10, the day after Admission day.

ORIENTATION

Orientation of new teachers in the high school district started Tuesday afternoon, when they were first greeted by members of the district's administration. Yesterday, the entire staff met at Sequoia High School cafeteria to hear outlines of plans for the coming year and yesterday afternoon the faculties of the several high schools met at the individual plants to start a series of meetings by grade level, subject, department, and other alignments.

Dr. Turner explained that there's nothing "new and revolutionary" about course matter this year as compared with last year. He pointed out, however, that members of faculty committees last year put in some 22,000 man-hours studying curriculum revision and some changes are to be made in English, social studies, mathematics, science, foreign language and industrial arts courses.

In the Menlo Park Elementary District, meetings got underway yesterday with faculty members greeting their principals yesterday morning and sections meetings for discussion of the course of study in the afternoon.

Today, faculty members were to meet in a general session at Central school in the morning, and in individual school sessions in the afternoon.

A general session for all faculty members is to be held Friday morning at Encinal school, followed by the traditional PTA sponsored luncheons for new and returning faculty members.

Monday, faculty members will convene for breakfast at the home of District Superintendent Dr. Mel Homfeld at 229 Lennox avenue; during the afternoon, they'll once again report to their schools to get rooms in final readiness for greeting the youngsters Wednesday morning.

NEW TEACHERS REPORT

In the Ravenswood district, new teachers reported Tuesday for the first of their indoctrination sessions.

These are to be climaxed tomorrow between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. with an "open house," at which parents and pupils are to greet the teachers in the classrooms which the youngsters will occupy for the coming year.

The 50 classroom teachers of the Las Lomitas District actually started pre-school institutes last Friday. New teachers met for orientation at that time.

Tuesday, school staffs met on grade levels and with the principals; Wednesday, besides staff meetings, District Superintendent introduced special consultants.

Music Consultant Mrs. Mary D'Anna conducted a workshop session for primary grade teachers.

More meetings are to be held today and this afternoon, an "open house" for third session kindergarten parents will be held between 1:30 p.m. and 3 p.m. at both Ladera and Las Lomitas

'OPEN HOUSE'

On Friday, the following open house schedule has been adopted:

8:30 a.m. to 10:40 a.m., open house for first session kindergartens; 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., open house for grades one through eight classes.

From 10:40 to noon, parents of second session kindergarteners were to meet for open house.

All kindergartens in the district are on triple session; first and second graders are on double sessions throughout the district.

School opens Monday; classes resume Wednesday.

That Man:

GIVES NO SIGN

"Frankly, I don't know where we're going from here," was the statement issued from the District Attorney's office of San Mateo County this week, in reference to the recent curb-painting (or lack of) complaints from Menlo Park.

Frank Cushing, head of the Bay Cities Curb Painting Inc. organization, had been issued a citation to appear at the DA's office last Friday, but he failed to materialize.

The DA's staff is now checking with the Oakland police in an effort to locate Cushing, but they aren't exactly sure what they can or will do with him if they find him.

In the meantime, complainant Mrs. William Jachens of Menlo Park reports that she received at least "15 or 20" phone calls from Palo Alto and Menlo Park from people taken in by the same procedure (paying $1.25 in advance to get house numbers painted on curb—with no results).

It is doubtful, however, if Mr. Cushing will be able to operate very much longer without friction with the law.

He passed a $20 check at the Stanford Arms Motel during his stay, which bounced. He also passed a $53 check at the Lucky Store in Mountain View that came back because of insufficient funds.

Boy, 6, Injured On Street Here

Michael Prince, 6, of 1203 Windermere avenue, was taken to Palo Alto hospital Tuesday for treatment of a broken leg and other injuries suffered, police said, when he stepped into the path of a car on Pierce road in Belle Haven.

The lad was hit by a car operated by Finis E. Cobb, 63, of Redwood City. The driver was not cited.

Witnesses said the boy and his brother had been standing on the curb at the west side of Pierce road, watching traffic on Bayshore Freeway. Young Michael told his brother that he was going home, turned around, and stepped into the street.

Voter Signup

The Atherton-Menlo Park Young Republicans have scheduled a registration of voters drive at the Atherton and Menlo Park railroad stations on Sept. 10 between the hours of 6 a.m. and 8:30 a.m.

Commuters who wish to register should arrive a few minutes earlier than usual to facilitate the registrars' work. The registrars will be seated in the station buildings and the YR club members will direct interested persons to the registrars.

School Board Defends Move Of 2nd Grades

Menlo Park School District trustees Tuesday spent more than an hour convincing parents that removal of two classes of second graders from Encinal school to rented classrooms at the Presbyterian church wasn't a whimsical idea.

They admitted that they were more interested in a permanent solution to the district's classroom shortage than in moving youngsters out of their normal attendance area, but established that the decision to move the second graders had come after long study.

The discussion opened with more than 40 persons in the audience to hear a petition asking "reconsideration" of the plan to move the pupils by bus.

Trustee Elwood Williams, acting as chairman in the absence of William Platt, read selections from board meeting minutes which traced progress of the district's search for new rooms from July, 1957, to the present.

He pointed out that the board had studied—and rejected—a variety of plans including the purchase of temporary classrooms, rental of more space in Stanford Village, assignment of teachers' helpers to overloaded classrooms and double sessions.

Williams also pointed out that the district has been struggling to maintain a classroom load maximum of 25 pupils for first through third grade youngsters, and a load maximum of 30 for the upper grades.

"The actual decision to move the second graders rather than first graders or kindergarteners was left up to the administration," Williams continued. "We felt that the educational specialists should know better than we could, which age group would feel the smallest adverse effect."

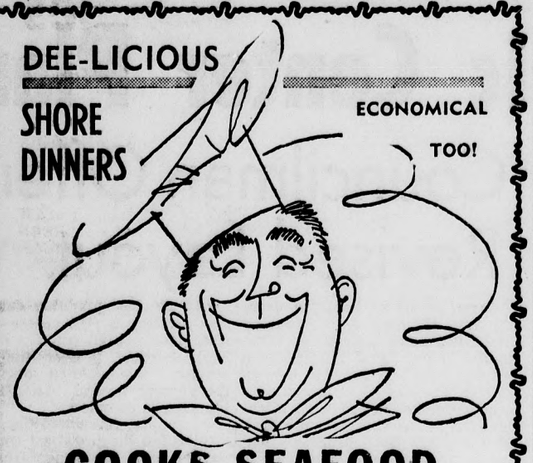

School District curriculum consultant William Fisher amplified on these reasons, explaining that kindergarten youngsters require a good deal of special furniture and playground equipment, while second graders do not.

He said it was decided to leave first graders at the schools closer to home, "since they're learning basics and we feel it would be less disruptive to leave them where they are."

Third-through-eighth graders could not be moved, he said, because they need more playground space, access to a library and to special classrooms as they grow.

What Young Men Want:

New Explorer Scout Program Designed for Wider Interest

All dressed up in a new package for older high-school age young men, a new Exploring program will be launched by the Boy Scouts of America in November, Lynn Austin, field executive of the Live Oak District area, announced this week.

Based on surveys made for the Boy Scouts of America by the Institute for Social Research at the University of Michigan and other groups, the new program is just what the young men asked for, he said.

The researchers questioned a cross section of the two and a half million young men between 14 and 16 years of age and turned up some good advice on the type of program young men want and need.

Exploring now will open its doors to all young men whether or not they have been Boy Scouts, and they may join when in the ninth grade or above and 11 years of age. Those 15, 16 and 17 years old may join regardless of grade.

There are 10 Explorer units in the Menlo Park, East Palo Alto, Atherton and Woodside area:

Ship 66 meeting at Redwood City Yacht Harbor; Post 107, 435 Blake street; Post 118, Costano school; Post 166, Holy Trinity Episcopal church parish hall; Post 198, First Baptist church; Post 204, Flood Park school; Post 205, Brentwood school; Post 223 Menlo Park Presbyterian church; Post 236, La Honda community hall and Post 333, Belle Haven school.

Researchers found that today's teen-ager is definitely concerned with attaining maturity and achieving success in some field, Austin explains. The survey pointed out that most young men in this age group know little about vocations and their requirements and want more information.

The new program will offer the opportunity for Exploring posts to specialize in any one of many subjects ranging from agriculture, chemistry, hi-fi and publishing to zoology. Posts would be designated by their specialty such as atomic energy post or radio post.

This step ties with another finding by the survey that programs which direct the energies of young men in one area are more popular.

In addition to vocational exploring five other areas of experience will form the backbone of the new Exploring program. The variety includes social, outdoor, personal fitness, service and citizenship activities, which will be self-initiated, planned and carried out by the boys with adult advisers and consultants.

Friends of Library Plan Increased Schedule for Year

First of a series of monthly book review programs sponsored by the Friends of the Menlo Park Library will be held Thursday, Sept. 25.

Mrs. Joseph Scaroni, chairman, announces that the Thursday morning programs are one part of a schedule of increased activities planned by the Friends of the Library for the coming year. Mrs. William Gropp is book review program chairman.

Mrs. Harold Hildreth, secretary-treasurer of the Friends, will continue to arrange the monthly cultural exhibit for the library building.

In addition, the Friends are planning a series of evening programs. Mrs. Scaroni announces that vice-chairman William Patton will be in charge of coordinating the activities and other programs during the year.

Membership committee during the year will be led by Mrs. John Crawford, past chairman, and Mrs. Edward O. Browne.

The Friends of the Library is made up of interested citizens who interpret the library and its work to the community.

Stanford to Host Visitors Here

Stanford University will play host to some 65 high officials of foreign universities during the week of Sept. 15-20.

Included are 21 representatives of the Association of Universities of the British Commonwealth, some accompanied by their wives, and 30 members of the governing board of the International Association of Universities.

The two groups are convening in Montreal at McGill University during the early part of September, but will proceed independently on post-convention tours of American and Canadian universities.

Family Relations Adult School Course Topic

A class in Family Relations will be offered by the Menlo-Atherton Adult School beginning Wednesday, Sept. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in Room Q-3.

The course will be taught by Mrs. Julian Pichel and will include lectures, discussions, films and recordings of family life situations. Outside speakers in psychology, psychiatry, and pediatrics occasionally, will add to the series.

Mrs. Pichel holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from the Pennsylvania State university and a master's degree in counseling and guidance from Yale university. While at Yale she studied and worked at the Institute of Human Relations.

Here on the Peninsula she has been on the counseling staff of Carlmont High School and has taught at the College of San Mateo. She is married to Dr. Julian Pichel, psychiatrist and is the mother of three grade school children.

Many facets of family life will be explored and discussed with emphasis on some of the real problems facing married people today. Mrs. Pichel says that the course is designed to help normal individuals think through, understand and evaluate their own life situations. Students will be encouraged to apply the principles of good menetal health to family problem areas.

Among the topics for discussion will be "Why do we marry as we do?" "What keep a mate faithful?" "What teen-agers want to know about moral codes;" "The myth of romanticism;" and "The place of love and affection in marriage."

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Adult School Office, DA 3-4145, Ext. 17 or by calling at Room 25 during the day.

Braille Class Scheduled for Adult Volunteers

A class offering sighted adults an opportunity to learn braille, so that they can transcribe textbooks for blind children, will begin September 17 in the chapter house of the Southern San Mateo County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Part of the adult education program of Sequoia High School, the course is sponsored by the Red Cross chapter and the 17th District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers. Sessions will be held weekly from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. until June.

After completing the course of study, a person may qualify to transcribe books into braille for the use of blind children in California schools who are attending regular classes alongside sighted playmates.

Since the 17th District, CCPT, undertook sponsorship of the first braille class in San Mateo County in 1952, 13 classes have been completed. The 17th District Braille Library now lends books, on a request basis, to school districts throughout California. A tremendous backlog of requests offers a continuous job for trained volunteer braille transcribers in their own homes during leisure hours and represents a need for many more such volunteers.

Persons interested may contact the Red Cross chapter at EM 6-3851.

The conference, to continue through Sept. 13, is exploring world progress in peaceful uses of atomic energy. Attending are about 5000 delegates and observers from more than 60 nations.

Summer School Success Told to District Trustees

First summer school session held this year by the Ravenswood Elementary School District was a "success both educationaly and financially," according to Supt. Stanley O. Schnepple.

The superintendent told trustees last week that more than 700 students attended the 20 day summer session, on the average. Pointing out that this was almost one-third of those who were eligible (grades four to seven) to attend, Schnepple said that he thought a great deal of good had been accomplished.

Using a departmentalized system, classes were given for remedial and enrichment work, and a combination of the two.

The program will add $14,118 to district revenues for average daily attendance monies. Schnepple reported that 16 teachers participated, at a cost of $7000.

Fame for 319th:

Army Top Brass in Washington Gets Interest in Reunion Here

The Camp Fremont Reunion of the 319th Engineers scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 20, here in Menlo Park has been stirring things up in Washington, D. C. The Adjutant General's office has written to Ken Thomson, president of the Engineers Association expressing great interest in the affair and asking for complete news stories on the event.

They have mailed photo offset sheets of the history of the 319th Engineers, taken from the official records. Also copies of the monthly reports sent into the War department by the commanding officer of the Regiment for every month of its existence from January 1918, to its discharge in September, 1919.

The first historical report says in part: "Four officers and 85 enlisted men transferred from the 3rd U.S. Engineers, Hawaiian department, to form nucleus for the 319th Engineers. This detachment left Honolulu Dec. 29, 1917, arrived in U.S. Jan. 4, 1918, arrived at Camp Fremont Jan. 4, 1918. Authority was obtained from the War department to induct men for the regiment.

"Major J. A. Dorst was detailed of DS in San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12, 1918 recruiting for the 319th Engineers. The aggregate strength of the regiment on Jan. 31, 1918 is 163."

The Major Dorst mentioned in the above is now Col. James A Dorst, Retired who lives at 25 Plaza drive, Berkeley. His son Richard Dorst, lives with his family at 1060 Lemon street, Menlo Park. It was Colonel Dorst who secured the World War posters for Ken Thomson to use in decorating the store windows during the week of Sept. 20.

Other parts of the history tell of the athletic prowess of the 319th Engineers and an accompanying photo shows the trophys won by the regiment.

A bulletin telling of the plans for the Reunion has gone out to the members of the regiment and return cards are coming in daily Thomson reports. Any one who soldiered at Camp Fremont is welcome to attend and can join in the dinner gathering.

Committee Chairman Joe Kelly and Vice-Chairman Art Stadler report continuing response from local citizens desiring to help make the Camp Fremont Reunion Day a success. The School District has offered their stage platforms to seat the 6th Army band when they give their concert

The Chamber of Commerce has voted funds to be used for the painting of suitable signs.

Explorer Boy Scouts have volunteered to erect the tents to be used for display. The Men's club of the Presbyterian church, through their president, David Diegelman, has offered to set up the chairs for the band and for the older folks who will attend.

Joe Kelly reports that Menlo Adobe American Legion Post 822 will prepare a barbecue for the members of the band at the Italian-American Social club.

Las Lomitas Eyes New Bond Issue

Las Lomitas Elementary School District trustees last week informally set February of next year as time for a bond issue election, and called for November reports from the fact-finding panels, before deciding what the bond issue should include.

The committees include a group of parents and community representatives, who are to meet with teachers and school principals; a committee from the teachers' association which has been studying a year-long program and a study group composed of district Superintendent Dr. Lawrence Fuller and Principals Richard Jensen and Claude Norcross, who are also studying a 12-month school program.

Little House Checks Forged

Menlo Park police halted a check writing spree by the former janitor of The Little House Sunday by arresting George Dobie Jr., of 760 Barry avenue, Los Altos on a felony complaint of forgery.

According to the complaint, Dobie had stolen a series of discontinued checks from the center during a period of several months. Between June and August he forged names to the checks and cashed them in South Palo Alto, Stanford Industrial Park and in San Francisco in amounts ranging from $150 to $475.

Dobie is to be arraigned on Sept. 16.

As We See It:

'My, How You've Grown!' Is City's September Theme

In the eastern sections of our country, a proud pastime for residents is pointing out to visitors how much of the past still remains. A drive down the tree-shaded streets of a New England town usually is accompanied by a commentary like this: "Now there is the house Josiah Jones built in 1672, with the original shutters still in place."

In the West, the game is reversed. An "old settler" out here — that is, anyone who has lived in the same town more than five years — is wont to brag: "When I moved here, that entire subdivision was a prune orchard."

Menlo Park is about to enter an all-out orgy of such look-how-we've-grown commentary. The "old-timers" who have lived here all of 10 years are going to have to step aside when one-time members of the 319th Regiment of the Army Engineers return here for their 40th reunion September 20.

Just how much of a change has taken place is now becoming obvious to the newest newcomer as signs begin to go up around town, designating the Presbyterian Church location as site of "Dental Headquarters;" the U.S. Chamber of Commerce offices as site of the "Servicemen's Hostess House."

As the community thus wallows in considerations of how far it has come in the 40 years since Camp Fremont days, it's a good time to renew, too, our realization of how far we still can go.

County Comment:

Garbage Incinerator Does What It's Supposed To: Removes Smog

By FLOYD M. McCUE
Editor and Publisher, Redwood City Star-Advertiser

At long last we seem to have the final word on the efficiency of the half-million-dollar incinerator of the South County Garbage and Refuse District. A test ordered by the district board resulted in a thorough examination of the chemical output and, as the builders maintained, came out with flying colors.

The Bay Area Air Pollution District demands that all incinerators come within the qualifications of those set up in Los Angeles, which was the originator of the smog control plans. The local plant not only met the LA standards, but far surpassed them, despite claims of a former official of the local district that the unit would blow and was constructed wrong. A Los Angeles survey firm official was of the same opinion.

Robert Martin, designer of the incinerator for the Disco Corporation of Seattle, and manager of operations for the district went about his business and for the past several weeks has been running the plant full blast.

He called in a Los Angeles firm to test the incinerator and received a clean bill of health. Unable to accept anything other than a survey it had ordered, the district broad brought in the Albert L. Chaney Chemical Laboratory of Glendale to conduct a complete test.

The results of those tests prove beyond any chance of doubt, that the south county area has what it most needs, a public operation that will not cause smog. Martin is smiling broadly, as are the board members because all had faith in the planning from the start.

The survey firm ran 35 tons of wet garbage through the incinerator during a one-hour period. Samples of blue gas were withdrawn from the stack. Sampling was done over the center of the discharge area.

Samples of particulate matter passed through a series of three impingers immersed in an ice-cooled bath. The first two impingers contained 100 ml of distilled water and the third was operated dry to remove water droplets.

The sample was then passed through a Millipore filter to remove fine particulate matter and smoke. The stack temperature readings and gas samples determined the amount of carbon dioxide and oxygen.

Dust loading showed 0.33 grains/scf, which is in full compliance with Los Angeles regulations. The actual standards of the LA district allow 0.4 grains per cubic foot of gas, showing the local findings much lower. LA rules allow 40 per cent capacity reading and the local had one high point of 20, a few at 15, 11 at 5. The majority of the readings were 10 and the average was slightly below that figure.

The Disco firm had several installations depending on the results of tests here. The above-standard ratings should mean a lot of new business for them. Incidentally, the local district has adopted a tax rate of five cents, the limit allowed by law.

Speaking of new taxes, there seems little chance that County Manager E. R. Stallings' recommendation that the county adopt the sales tax as a means of raising more money will get very far in the near future. Only one supervisor, Martin A. Poss, has expressed all-out support of the plan. Chairman Alvin Hatch is for it but then asks the question of its need as the means of really lowering the property taxes.

Supervisors Ed McDonald and Thomas Callan want no part of the one-cent levy. Supervisor William Werder want to put the question to a vote of the people after a majority of the county cities have adopted the tax.

Everyone will agree that property taxes are at the straining point but with 90 per cent of counties in the state having the sales tax, it is proved that the sales tax merely brings a temporary drop in the property taxes and the climb starts a year or two after its adoption.

The same has proved true of the cities in this county which adopted the tax last year.

There is no question that San Mateo county enjoys a business-getting incentive to car buyers and purchasers of other large items. This is particularly true in the cities bordering on other counties. Another factor, dealers say, is that more people stay at home to shop rather than pay the extra cent on their purchases in adjoining counties.

Supervisors are not likely to give much talk to the sales tax item now or soon. Instead they talk of aiming for a property tax reduction next year, which is good news if it comes true. Unprecedented social welfare costs and other items brought a 19-cent hike this year but the board members are actually aiming their sights on a reduction for 1959-60. We hope the county manager will go along with this thinking rather than finding ways to up governmental expenditures.

Postoffice Here Seeks Employes

Applications for prospective postal clerks and carriers are currently being received at the Menlo Park post office, 560 Oak Grove avenue, Postmaster Harry B. Morey announced this week.

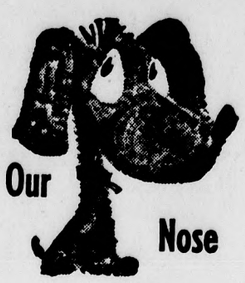

Morey added that the applications are to be received "until further notice," after which examination dates will be set up.

Applicants, Morey said, must be bona fide patrons of the post-office or residents of its service area.

A list of eligibles will be drawn after the required examination. It will supersede an eligible list previously used.

Starting pay in either position, according to a bulletin from regional postal headquarters, will be $2 per hour.

Secured properties within the Ravenswod Elementary School District have a total valuation of $27,901,557, according to Supt. Stanley O. Schnepple.

TELLS US:

Hardly anybody would think of running a birth notice for a litter of pups, but when Lady Spice, pedigreed golden cocker spaniel owned by Gene Podany of Atherton decided to augment her family, she did it in such a spectacular way that more than ordinary attention seemed in order.

She had 11 young'uns and she and Mr. Sugar, father of the infant canines and also owned by Podany, think this is enough to make any dog more than ordinarily proud.

Podany himself doesn't really know what to make of it.

"After all," he says, "this is Lady Spice's first litter. She's little more than a pup, herself, and dogs of her breed usually don't have more than eight puppies at a time."

Podany says also that he's given thought to helping Mr. Sugar fulfill normal social obligations, by passing out ham bones or catnip to canine well-wishers.

About this, Mr. Sugar doesn't say anything.

"And," Podany says, "Lady Spice doesn't say much about it, either. She's pretty busy.

"But you can see she's awfully happy."

When Ray Cruikshank instructs a tumbling class, he really instructs.

A couple of weeks ago Cruikshank, seventh grade teacher at Encinal school who was helping with the summer recreation program was teaching his young charges how to do a backward somersault.

"This way," Cruikshank said, and executed a perfect one.

"Not this way," Cruikshank said, and executed a bad one. His demonstration was such a success that he had to be taken to the Menlo Medical Center for treatment of pulled ligaments in his neck.

He gave the next lesson in tumbling in the form of oral directions.

Municipal Report:

Newspapers' 'Watchdog' Role A Happy One in Menlo Park

The relationships between a newspaper and the various governmental constituencies in which it operates may not appear, at first glance to be of more than academic interest.

But newspapermen generally regard it as of considerably more interest than that, and are forever on guard against new inroads and regulations by tax-supported public agencies.

In Menlo Park and Atherton, relations between newspapers and the city, school government agencies can be considered good. The last time the Recorder felt it incumbent on itself to get defensive about a city action was when, about 10 years ago, the city proposed a business license ordinance which specified a license fee for a "newspaper."

The editor at that time noted that the right to grant license also implied the right to withhold a license; this, he said, was a pretty clear violation of the intention of the First Amendment of the Constitution, which guarantees freedom of the press.

One previous editor of the Recorder roundly criticized an action of the city council—in the dear dead days when residents here took their city politics seriously—and the day after the paper came out, met a councilman who threatened to "clean up the street" with him.

The editor thereupon sojourned to Redwood City, where he got himself sworn in as a deputy sheriff. This allowed him to carry a gun while walking around Menlo Park.

Most recent action designed to force cooperation between local government and newspapers is the Brown law which requires public bodies to forward their agendas to news media 24 hours before a given meeting, stating the business to be taken up.

Designed to eliminate the possibility of "star chamber" sessions, it declares that any action not on such a pre-published agenda can be declared null and void, if somebody wants to challenge it.

Of course, this particular law also makes things lots easier for newsgathers. Finding out what's going on is about half of the job. Legally forcing a public body to report what's going to happen cuts newspaper reporting tack in half. Naturally in case you hadn't guessed, the Brown law was sponsored by a newspaper.

But in spite of all the safeguards of freedom of the press, there seems to be continuing efforts in various parts of the nation, to either muzzle, regulate what newspapers can print. Some of these are indirect, but they have meaning.

For instance, the Aug. 23 issue of the "Publishers' Auxiliary," national-distributed trade publication has some interesting headlines on its front page.

One says, "AFA Hits Recent Gov't. Attacks on Advertising." The story under tells of how the Advertising Federation of America, at a recent meeting, censured the Internal Revenue Service on the basis of a new proposal concerning taxation of advertising of items on which excise taxes are now already charged.

Another headline warns, "One-Newspaper Town Trend Should Be Watched." This one warns that newspapers which have everything their own way tend to get "lazy;" they're apt to hold a story for a couple of days (or weeks) to suit their own convenience. Thus the public is apt to be left uninformed of a lot of governmental goings-on.

Yet another tells of a fight for a newspapers' right to publish a city annexation ordinance in Indiana. The proposed annexation has been embroiled in various court fights and anti-annexationists got a restraining order in an attempt to keep the law out of print.

Another story tells of another place in which newspapers—not government—get a little out of hand. Says another paragraph on the same page of the Auxiliary:

"Washington, D. C.—The more than 80 southern newspapers which sponsored a paid, full-page ad in a Washington newspaper urging congress to allow TVA to issue revenue bonds to finance new generating plants should not be allowed to take federal tax deductions covering the cost of the advertising campaign, Senator Estes Kefauver believes."

Remember. All of the above examples are from one page of a single issue of a newspaper trade journal.

From this, it can be gathered that continuous review and watchfulness of newspapers by the government and the courts, and government courts by the newspapers, is still a good idea.

30 Years Ago:

Police Chief Denied Graft Charges

The files of the Menlo Park Recorder reveal that, 30 years ago this week, the following items, here reproduced exactly as first published, were news in the young community:

September 7, 1928:

"The turmoil caused by the rumors of graft and threats of violence that have been hurled at the police department of Menlo Park, since they have taken more than $4,000 from citizens of that town in fines for violation of the prohibition law came to a head last Thursday evening when, as report has it, Mayor Harry Weeden, yielding to incessant importunities of certain residents, in company with trustees T. Dale and A. C. Ellis went on a 'sleuthing expedition' in Chinatown and laid in wait for members of the police department, to see if they levied a tribute on the wiley Orientals as their enemies had declared they were doing . . .

"'We could find no evidence in any way incriminating the police department,' Mayor Weeden stated in an interview the next day . . . Chief of Police Tom Furman . . . stated that all the talk and trouble had been stirred up by disgruntled bootleggers who had lost money in fines, and their friends, who were in sympathy with them . . .

"The Menlo Park Chinatown for years has been the scene of some of the most sensational raids of San Mateo county police officers. The number of arrests that have been made there runs into the thousands and the amount of money collected in fines during its existence has been no small item in San Mateo county's income . . ."

Home for Campaign:

Younger Reports Self Happy With Congress' Work Session

Congressman J. Arthur Younger returned to San Mateo County this week, tanned and healthy, ready for a whirlwind election campaign that will place him before more than 150 local organizations for talks in addition to countless public appearances before groups of all kinds.

In a personal visit to Publisher C. A. Burley of the Recorder, Congressman Younger was enthusiastic over the accomplishments in the 85th Congress, especially his own projects dealing directly with San Mateo County.

Topping the list is the $1,500,000 Pillar Point breakwater project, which was this week signed into law by President Eisenhower.

Younger was also gratified to secure release of many units of surplus unused federal land, among which is the Dibble Hospital property which was just sold at auction for a price in excess of $160,000 to a syndicate represented by the California Pacific Title Co. Located in the Menlo Park professional and administrative area the property will soon be returned to the tax roles and create additional business for the city.

The Congressman inspected construction of the new $1,500,000 U.S. Geological Survey building which is also being built on former Dibble property.

"Moving this agency to Menlo Park will bring to this area a new payroll of approximately $1,000,000 a year and 350 new families, a great boost to the economy of Menlo Park and San Mateo County," Younger declared.

Younger also secured release of 55 acres of navy property at San Bruno in addition to parcels at Montara and Pedro Point on the Coastside.

Together they will return several million dollars worth of property to county tax roles and create new enterprise, he said.

Flood control engineering surveys for six San Mateo County creks were cited by Younger as solving the flood problem in the county in the visible future. These surveys were created by bills introduced by Younger.

The Congressman declared that in his opinion the three most important actions, nationally, of the 85th Congress were:

1. Reorganization of the Defense department to achieve civilian control.

2. Creation of the Aviation Agency that will place both military and civilian aircraft, airports, missiles and all air activities under one body. This will make for greater improvements and will cut down on air acidents and other air traffic problems.

3. Creation of the Transportation act which for the first time enables the government to secure cooperation between the railroads and trucking lines to provide a better transportation system for the nation.

Younger will be honored at a public reception and luncheon at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo at 1 p.m. Sunday. The now internationally famous Burlingame High School string orchestra which toured Europe will play an honor concert for Congressman Younger as he secured them the invitation to play at the Brussels Fair and had them feted by American embassies throughout Europe.

The affair is open to the public and reservations may be made by calling DI 4-1848.

'Intercultural' Experiment:

Foreign Teachers Again Visit In Peninsula School Program

A summer of weekly planning meetings by the staff of Menlo Park's Peninsula School has resulted in a broad schedule of projects for school students during the coming school year.

Heading the list is a continuation of the intercultural program begun last spring with the aid of an almost $6000 grant from the Columbia Foundation of San Francisco. This program is designed to stress simultaneously the likenesses and differences between peoples of the world, and includes participation in varying degrees from all age levels at the school, from nursery through the eighth grade groups.

Directed by Mrs. Gertrude Williams of Palo Alto, the comprehensive program tentatively calls for a visiting teacher from India and another from a Latin-America area. Supplementing the program is the staff's current investigation of the possibility of an exchange of classes between Peninsula School and a Mexican elementary school.

NUMBER THEORY

Mathematics classes will be further emphasized with a mixed-age class from fifth through eighth grades under director Alan Strain, to include a study of number theory and some work on symbolic logic.

A re-examination of reading is also on the agenda, with a primary slant toward broadening and affirming the reading skills and potentials of older students. Correction of reading deficiencies will continue to be stressed.

The school's traditional schedule of weeklong bus and camping trips this year includes a jaunt to Death Valley for fifth and sixth graders, a trip to the Sierras for older students, and the annual spring camp at Plantation Ranch near Fort Ross for the greater part of the student body. Younger students make shorter trips to less faraway places.

Also tentatively planned are additional trips to Mexico and to the Hoopa Indian Reservation or northern California.

Adult School Lists New Faculty Members

Five new instructors will join the staff of the Menlo-Atherton Adult School when registration begins the week of Sept. 6.

Millord Cradiska a new addition to the Ravenswood High School staff, will teach Beginning Spanish for M-A Adult School. Kenneth Noceto will teach U.S. History, for those desiring credit for high school diploma and for those wishing to brush-up on the history of their country.

Citizenship for Foreign Born will be taught this year by Mr. Orville Austin. Mr. Austin has been teaching at Menlo-Atherton High and joins the Adult school staff now.

Maurice Schmetschek will teach an English class. This class will cover grammar and usage, plus those desiring credit to finish high school may take advantage of this class.

Mrs, Cecile Pichel will teach a course in Family Relations. Mrs. Pichel is new to the M-A Adult staff, but not to the community. Her husband, Dr. Julian Pichel, is a noted psychiatrist and Mrs. Pichel has taught at San Mateo Junior College and been on the counseling staff of Carlmont High School.

David Diegelman, Menlo Park real estate agent, will teach his course in this subject again this fall.

Interested persons may call the Menlo-Atherton Adult School office DA 3-4145 for more information. Registration will be the week of Sept. 8 in class.

Instructors Called For New Red Cross Course

Two classes for instructors of first aid will be provided for area residents by the Southern San Mateo County Chapter of the American Red Cross during September.

The first is a review course for qualified first aid instructors holding a current first aid instructor's card and will be held at the Chapter house, 3540 Middlefield road in Menlo Park, from 7 to 10 on the evenings of September 10, 11 and 12. The teacher will be Carl Ross.

A training course for instructors in first aid will be conducted at the Central Fire Station, 300 Middlefield road in Menlo Park on Tuesday and Thursday evenings September 16, 18, 23, 25 and 30. The hours will be from 7 to 10. Jack Giesler is instructor. Registrants must hold a current advanced first aid certificate. Enrollment may be made at the Chapter House, EM 6-3851.

Dog Control Law Voted in Woodside

After more than a year of debate, the Council of the Town of Woodside has finally adopted an ordinance for the control of dogs.

The new law, which was on the agenda at the time Woodside incorporated a year and one-half ago, had been sidetracked by more urgent new city business and by local controversy over proposed requirements.

The new Woodside law is patterned after the county ordinance, according to Mrs. Lewis. Basically, it provides that it is unlawful for dogs to trespass on private property, or to be unattended in public areas. Animals on leash are excluded.

By contract arrangement with the county, animal shelter service at the Peninsula Humane Society, Redwood City, will be available to Woodside dogs, and larger animals, such as horses, cattle and sheep.

Rabies innoculation is required for all dogs before licensing. The Town of Woodside license fee was established at $2 for males and $4 for females, with the county tax collector doing the licensing.

Other provisions include declaring a dog to be a nuisance for barking or disturbing the peace continuously, and fees for picking up impounded animals.

Menlo Semi-Pro Baseballers Eye Winter League—Need ($) Sponsor

With baseball season definitely in its dying stages (even the Giants have about had it), a group of die-hards from Menlo Park are still rarin' to go.

The group (known on their better days as a team), is called the Menlo Recs—and the gang of semi-pros has been playing every Sunday afternoon since early June.

They hope to continue playing too—as they have already applied for admission into a winter league and have a tentative roster ready to go. But they need a sponsor.

The squad, managed this season by Dennis Anderson, has paid the costs of 14 games to date out of their own pockets. The costs included umpires, bats, balls and traveling expenses.

Whether they can continue to stand the expense is another matter—but it is our hope that a financial backer can be found.

Most of the players on the current 14 man roster will stay with the club throughout the winter season if the team continues to play. The only one who definitely will not be able to continue will be field captain Tony Sanchez, who will enter law school at the University of Santa Cara.

Several Menlo College and M-A baseballers may be added to the roster for the coming games (if the team continues)—and with a little strength in a few positions, the local lads could give most Class B teams a run for their money.

Leading hitters for the squad are Dom Ascani and Fred (Corky) Pegelow, hitting .433 and .415 respectively. Both played for the M-A Bears last season.

Welcome Announcement

A welcome announcement came this week from Dr. Rex Turner of the Sequoia Union High School district—when he stated that plans were underway for another major football field for the district.

The new field may be located at Woodside—or possibly at a new school not yet built in West San Carlos. Regardless of where it'll be—it'll be needed.

Twenty-seven games are scheduled to be played on the Terremere Field grass this season—enough to turn the turf over and under several times. Terremere, at present, is the only field in the Sequoia district with bleacher and lighting facilities.

Turner also announced that bleachers are gradually being purchased for the fields at the different schools—so that fans will soon be able to attend frosh-soph and Jayvee grid games without standing on the side lines throughout the contest.

Boettcher Expects 50:

Bear Football Candidates Will Get Taste of 'Split-T' Monday

Monday will be the big day for Menlo-Atherton's football prospects—as they will get their first look at coach Art Boettcher's controversial "split-T" offense.

"The boys won't need to learn a lot of fancy plays with this offense," said Boettcher last week. "We just want them to master a few things—well."

Boettcher, who returned from a summer-long vacation in Spokane, Wash., only last week, will be assisted this year by another split-T advocate, Don Whitaker.

PLAYED UNDER FAUROT

Whitaker played end under Don Faurot at the University of Missouri and played in the Cotton Bowl with the Missourians. Both he and Boettcher have coached in the state of Washington, using the offense they plan to spring on M-A fans this season.

"The quarterback is our key figure," says Boettcher—"and we think we have some fine prospects for the position."

Heading the Bears list will be last year's first-string signal-caller, senior Lynn Larson. Expected to offer him competition when next week's practice rolls around will be Rick Wright and Charlie Aparacio, quarterbacks for Frank Bettencourt's frosh-soph squad last season.

NAVY GETS JONES

The Bears suffered a serious blow to their offensive power this summer when fleet halfback Rosie Jones dropped out of school to join the navy. Boettcher only found out about the loss of Jones last week.

John Finegold, a senior, is expected to take up the slack caused by the absence of Jones, however. Finegold is rated by many as the fastest backfield prospect in the SPAL.

Other hopefuls for the important halfback roles will be juniors Hugh Smith and Dick Burns, both speedsters from last season's top-flight M-A B track squad.

At fullback — Boettcher has hopes for junior Willie Wally. Don Conley is also listed by the new coach as a top backfield candidate.

MEETING TOMORROW

At least 50 or more candidates are expected to appear at Monday evening's opening practice session—and the boys will be in full uniform the first day. Boettcher will hold a meeting for all varsity candidates tomorrow at the M-A gym at 10 a.m.

Whitaker will handle the line coaching this season, while Boettcher will work with the backs primarily. For line power—Whitaker faces a question mark.

Returning from last year's squad will be mainstay Roger Patterson, who will probably play tackle this season.

Other experienced linemen returning will be seniors Mike Geib, Dave McDowell, Dennis Cox and George Pitt. Junior Doug Christie is also expected to make a strong bid for a first string slot.

From last season's frosh-soph squad come end prospects Pete Edelen and Dave Baker. Both boys, according to Boettcher, showed promise as sophomores.

M-A's first SPAL game, by a fortunate twist of the schedule, does not fall until mid-season—following the only open date of the Bear schedule. The Oct. 24 game will be against Carlmont at Terremere Field.

Woodside HS Athletic Program Outlined

Dorfmeier Lists Coaches, Policy

(Last in a series of three articles previewing the 1958-59 athletic programs at Ravenswood, Menlo-Atherton and Woodside High Schools.)

By Rick Talley
Recorder Sports Editor

New color-standards decorating peninsula athletic fields this fall will be orange and white—signifying the presence of one of Sequoia Union District's latest additions, the new Woodside High School.

Along with the Ravenswood Trojans (Cardinal and Royal Blue)—the Woodsiders will be making their initial bid for area athletic laurels when the 1958 season opens.

And at the helm of the SPAL's new sports ship will be skipper Don Dorfmeier, newly appointed athletic director.

Dorfmeier is no stranger to area athletics or to the Sequoia Union district, as he served for the past seven years at Menlo-Atherton.

NO COACHING FOR DON

After carving out his own niche in the coaching profession by turning out excellent track squads at M-A, Don has decided to leave the Woodside coaching to his five-man staff—while he will serve strictly as an administrator and instructor.

At present, plans for seven sports are already set at Woodside, and an eighth, cross country, is fairly certain. Like Menlo-Atherton, however, Dorfmeier is faced with a shortage of coaches for some sports.

Consequently, tennis and golf are currently without coaches.

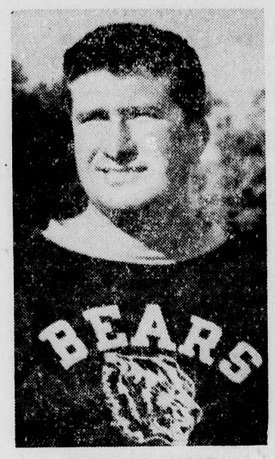

"If we can find someone from inside our own faculty, we certainly will field teams in these sports," said Dorfmeier. "We have a coach (Joe Greggans) for cross-country, but whether the sport goes into varsity competition or not is still uncertain."

Woodside will open its athletic schedule this fall with junior-varsity football, frosh-soph football, C & D basketball and water polo.

They will also field teams in swimming, junior-varsity basketball, wrestling, track and baseball this year.

Vern Sterling, Carlmont staff member last season, will be head football coach, and he will be assisted by Bob Fool. Dorfmeier is presently looking within the Woodside faculty for another person to aid the two coaches.

Pool will also be head man next spring in baseball season, handling all levels of the activity.

DON DORFMEIER
. . . No More Coaching

Bill Guttormsen, also an ex-Carlmont mentor, will coach all of the basketball squads. He is a University of San Francisco graduate and coached at Serra High for two years.

Guiding all swimming teams will be Boyd Mickle, Sequoia graduate and College of Pacific standout. A member of the last United States Olympic water polo team, Mickle will coach the sport at Woodside.

Rounding out the coaching staff will be Joe Greggans, head track and cross country coach. Joe participated in track and field at San Jose State and coached cross country last year at M-A.

Pool and Sterling will be full-time physical education instructors, along with Dorfmeier—while other members of the coaching staff will teach "inside" subjects.

Dorfmeier, in addition to his three physical education classes and athletic administrative duties, will serve as boys counselor one hour per day at Woodside.

"We should be fairly strong in our lightweight division activities," asserted the director—"we brought many fine young athletes with us from Menlo-Atherton."

Approximately 450 boys will be at Woodside this year, and facilities are constructed to accommodate an eventual combined total of 2,000 students at the school.

In the physical education department, Dorfmeier has much to smile about. A track and football field are already ready for practice use—and the new gymnasium is under construction.

Like his former coaching partner at M-A, Howard Costello, (now athletic director at Ravenswood High), Dorfmeier has placed high emphasis on participation in his physical education programs.

"Our coaching staff will be under no win-or-else pressure—we only ask for maximum effort and sportsmanship from our teams—no more," said Derfmeier.

PE COMES FIRST

"Our men are hired as physical education instructors first—and coaches second. And if the boys don't meet our daily physical education requirements—they won't play for us after school.

"We feel that it may take us three years to bring Woodside squads in SPAL title contention—but we may surprise people and make it sooner," continued Dorfmeier.

"We have some fine youngsters for a nucleus—we have fine facilities — and," asserted the new Woodside director, "we think we have a fine future."

Decision Soon:

NEW GRIDIRON

Decision as to whether Woodside High School will become scene of approximately half of the Sequoia High School District's home varsity football games will be made within the next few months.

The high school district's board of trustees, Superintendent Dr. Rex Turner said this week, is currently studying whether to build a major athletic plant there, or at a proposed high school yet to be built west of San Carlos.

"The district realizes that its present single field with bleachers—Terremere Field at Sequoia—is unable to handle all the varsity competition of football teams from our several high schools," he said.

"We realize we're going to have to have a second such plant, one with perhaps 4000 seats for spectators, and possibly lights for night games also."

Woodside Coach Wants 'Race-Horse' Football

"Race-horse" football is what Vern Sterling wants—and he has one year in which to get it.

Sterling, the head football coach at the new Woodside High School, has indicated that he will use the Split-T style offense, with a modification of the famed Bobby Dodd Belly Series.

"We don't expect too much this year, but we'll do our best and work plenty hard," said the former Santa Clara grid star.

JAYVEE SCHEDULE

Woodside is slated to play junior-varsity football this first year, along with their running-mate, Ravenswood.

At present, only six games are scheduled for sure, with a seventh (with Carlmont) tentatively set.

The most immediate problem facing Sterling is the lack of equipment for practice purposes. His boys will report Monday for a meeting, but in all probability will not suit up—mainly because the full supply of pads and helmets have not arrived yet.

34 SIGNED UP

When Sterling held a sign-up last spring at Menlo-Atherton, he got 34 signatures of M-A boys who will be attending Woodside this year—and who want to play football.

Some of these played on Frank Bettencourt's frosh-soph squad last year—and will be coming with high recommendations.

Heading the list of former M-A performers will be: Bill Jankord (jr), Jim Jorgensen (jr), Ted Ludemann (jr), and Cubby Welch (so). Ludemann and Welch are possible backfield choices, with young Welch touted very highly as a quarterback prospect.

Another M-A turnout with great potential is Dennis Brock (so) — but there is still some doubt whether the lanky end prospect will attend Woodside or not.

From Sequoia, Sterling has reports on a pair of quarterbacks, Chips Conlon (jr) and Allan Rawlins. Along with Welch, the trio should give Woodside depth in signal-calling.

Assisting Sterling with the two teams, junior-varsity and freshman-sophomore, will be Bob Pool, a Sequoia High grad who attended San Jose State. Pool will also pilot Woodside's baseball teams.

With only three classes attending Woodside, it appears that the better sophomores will get their chance to play on the Jayvee squad—while the top freshmen will have an opportunity to make the frosh-soph squad.

Teams Need Name

Woodside What?

The Bears belong to Menlo-Atherton, and one of the new high schools, Ravenswood—has staked a claim on "Trojans" . . . but Woodside is still without a team name or mascot.

This will soon be taken care of, however, as an all-student election will be scheduled as soon as school gets under way.

The school colors are orange and white—what's a good hearty alma-mater name to match?

Gibbs Stretches . . .

. . . While playing first base for the Menlo Recs semi-pro baseball squad. A former Menlo-Atherton High School pitching sensation and White Sox farm hand, Don Gibbs has been plagued with a sore arm this season, having taken the mound only once. At first base for the Recs, he has turned in fine defensive play and leads the team in doubles.

Recs Drop 12-11 Slugfest

The Menlo Recs, still shaken from their 12-11 loss at Flood Park last week—will travel to Hollister this Sunday.

The Recs fell to the .500 mark again (7-7) last Sunday in a three-hour marathon, losing to Hilltop Market of San Francisco, 12-11.

The Recs had it wrapped up 9-8, going into the fatal ninth—but six straight explosive hits off reliefer Dick Sanchez brought in the roof.

RALLY FALLS SHORT

Trailing then, 12-9, the Recs bounced back for two in the bottom of the ninth and left the tying run stranded on third. The loss broke a three-game winning streak for Menlo Park.

Menlo was ahead three times in the contest, but the Hilltoppers banged hurlers Bob Anderson and Dick Sanchez for a total of 20 hits as they repeatedly bounced back. Eight SF runs and 10 hits came in the last three innings.

The first four hits off Sanchez in the ninth came from the same four hitters who had driven Anderson off the mound in the seventh.

The locals, despite the absence of the team's top two hitters, Fred Pegelow and Dom Ascani, rapped 13 hits to up the team batting average to .286.

362 FOOT DOUBLE

Jim Cabaniss drove out the longest hit of the day with a 362 foot double off the left field screen in the fifth.

This Sunday's game at Hollister will be a re-match of a game played a month ago, when Menlo Park won 6-4 in 13 innings, on a 330-foot home run by Mickey Geenen.

Mike Lewis (1-0) will be the starting pitcher for the Recs Sunday. It will be his first start since he defeated the Menlo Merchants 8-5 a month ago. Dick Sanchez, (4-5) will be ready for relief.

Menlo Recs Mainstay . . .

. . . Is pitcher-outfielder Mike Lewis. Lewis is scheduled to start on the mound this Sunday for the semi-pros at Hollister, after a month layoff from pitching chores. His record is 1-0 for the season. Hitting .314 for the 14-game season, Mike picked up two hits last Sunday while batting fourth in the order against Hilltop Market of San Francisco. The Recs losts 12-11, giving them a 7-7 season's record.

Garden Column:

Winter Doesn't Have to Mean Bleak Period in Your Garden

Many gardeners who go all out for summer annuals tend to fold their hands come fall and wait impatiently for spring before they shift into high gear.

However, winter doesn't have to be a bleak period in your garden, say area nurserymen. That is, not if you hustle down to your nursery and take advantage of the wonderful winter bedding plants. If planted in succession from now into autumn, these will provide welcome color from mid-winter into spring.

Among the popular winter annuals for mild California climates, you will find calendulas, snapdragons, stock, violas, pansies. The important point to remember in planting any of these selections is that time is a factor. If you wait too long, it will be too cold to start the tender young plants and you will miss out on the all-important winter blooming period.

POT MARIGOLD

The calendula (or pot marigold) is one of the brightest stars of the winter scene. It is a happy choice for massed effects with its brilliant tones of yellow, golds and now even persimmon and pale apricot.

Winter stock is the favorite of many a knowing gardener. Tall, fragrant, beautiful—it will bloom colorfully with no effort on your part over a long period.

Violas and pansies are perky little low-growing flowers, ideal for borders or edgings or anywhere you need a sudden burst of color. With the addition of many new varieties, you have your choice of almost every color of the rainbow.

Since it will be warm when you plant these annuals, it is important to keep them well-watered until they are established. Other than that, all of the above selection require no other care except for picking off faded blossoms.

Sierra Club Plans Weekend At Big Sur

An easy hike of about six miles, with unusual views of rugged ocean shore and mountains, has been scheduled for the coming weekend by the Loma Prieta chapter of the Sierra Club.

Sunday, Sept. 7, the hikers will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Big Sur Lodge entrance to the state park on Highway 1, 28 miles south of Carmel.

The autos will be left at 1200 ft. elevation, and the hikers will travel about 2½ miles up a fire road to the 2600 ft. summit of the outer range.

Another hike down the Terrace Creek trail will find the hikers at lunch under the redwoods. Leader for the post road and outlaw camp outing is Monty Ballou, Carmel, MA 4-3638.

PESCADERO CREEK RESTOCKED WITH TROUT

This week the following coastal county streams and lakes were scheduled to be restocked with catchable-sized trout by the Department of Fish and Game.

Anglers are reminded that this list is tentative and subject to change, depending on water conditions and other factors:

Lake County—Upper Blue Lake.

Marin County—Lagunitas, Phoenix lakes.

Monterey County—Big Sur, Carmel rivers.

San Mateo County— Pescadero creek.

Santa Cruz County—San Vicente creek; San Lorenzo river.

Sonoma County—Valley of the Moon pond.

The Midsummer Nite rally by Sports Cars of Vallejo Saturday night was livened up a little by an irate rancher, who decided the rallyists should not use a road near his home.

He was so emphatic about his decision that he put a truck, a car, and boxes across the road and stopped about half of the 22 rallyists on the event.

The leg on which the road block was set up was thrown out in computing scores.

Rally Joe Booth of Vallejo said the club had conducted rallies over the road before. He says he intends to check with the state highway patrol to see if the road is public or private.

William and Norma Rudicel, in a Volkswagen, took first place with a 42-second error.

Abingdon Rough Riders will present the miniature Auto-Bahn Crossover at Rheem shopping center in Moraga Sunday. Technical inspection begins at 8 a.m.

Entry fee, payable at the post, is $8.

A combination of Tri-Angles and Porsches was too much for the other 51 competitors at the Buccaneer rally Sunday.

The first three places went to Tri-Angle members and they were all driving Porsches. Dave and Pat Scheyer were first; followed by Lloyd and JoAnne Johnson. Doug Rich and Pete Ankersmit were third.

Novice competition went to William Paulsen and Earl Bobert of the Highland Touring club.

35th YEAR—No. 36 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1958 PAGE 9

September 13 Event:

'Day at Hialeah' Theme Of Big Tally Ho Benefit

Testing a Prop . . .

. . . for the upcoming gala events to be held at the Menlo Circus Club are Mrs. Robert Jamplis, Tally Ho publicity chairman, and Mrs. William Reynolds Jr. Papier-mache horse heads will decorate the scene in keeping with the general theme of the day-long benefit: "A Day at Hialeah."

It's Tally Ho again and a "Day at Hialeah" for the members of the Woodside-Atherton Junior Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home. "Hialeah" is the theme chosen by the Auxiliary for the annual fund raising event to be held September 13 at the Menlo Circus Club.

A racing theme with silks of pink and green will transform the club house into a race track. The pool side cabanas, offering games and concessions, will become stalls with silhouettes of horses in the background. Poles separating the cabanas will be entwined with pink and green ribbon, and flying gaily overhead will be multi-colored flags.

Dinner will be served from 5 to 11 p.m. around the pool side tables covered with pink cloths and green hurricane lamps. Adding further color to the decor will be waiters dressed as jockeys. An island, complete with palm trees and pink flamingos, will decorate the center of the pool as the models stroll around the edge in the latest I. Magnin fashions. Paul Speegle will commentate for the fashion show which will commence at 6 p.m. Models will be selected from the active membership and provisionals of the Auxiliary.

Ray Hackett's orchestra will play for dancing in the main club house which will also be decorated with the racing decor. One wall will be dominated by an immense Currier and Ives racing print.

An afternoon and evening horse show, managed by Allan Ross, will be presented in the riding ring on the Circus Club grounds. Mrs. Robert Hexom of Woodside is chairman of the horse show. The first show starts at 9:30 a.m., followed by one at 1:30 p.m., with the evening show at 8 p.m.

Mrs. James H. Barry of Atherton is general chairman of the day-long party and Mrs. Francis S. North of Atherton is chairman of the Woodside-Atherton Junior Auxiliary to the Stanford Convalescent Home. The public may attend the party which is given each year for the benefit of the Stanford Convalescent Home. Admission tickets for children are $1 and $2.50 for adults. Children will be welcomed at the horse show. Adults only will be admitted through the main party gates.

Trying Out the Box Seats . . .

Busy Autumn Ahead:

At Presbyterian Church:

Sue Stolp Bride of Ralph Ricks

Suzanne Stolp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. La Dreu Stolp of Atherton, and Ralph Bruce Ricks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Ricks of Piedmont, were united in an evening ceremony at the Menlo Park Presbyterian church on August 23.

For the 8 p.m. wedding, Suzanne chose a full length white gown of pure silk organza, embroidered with Alencon lace. The "V" neckline was accented by an empire waistline fashioned of lace. The dress featured a bustle back skirt terminating in a chapel train.

FRENCH ILLUSION

Her finger tip veil of French illusion was held in place by a crown of lilies of the valley. Suzanne carried a bouquet of white cattalaya orchids white butterfly orchids, and stephanotis.

Preceding the bride to the altar were her attendants, Mrs. Winton Mather, matron of honor, Nancy Gardiner, maid of honor, and three bridesmaids, Sue Severin, Eleanor Tilden, and Mrs. Hans Koehl.

The attendants were attired in matching gowns of moss green, styled along princess lines. The cocktail length gowns featured an Empire inset of white organza embroidered in red and pink flowers, tying in a bow with descending streamers at the back. Their head pieces with halo veils, were also moss green, and they carried red antheriums matching the embridered detail of the gowns.

Red Cross Teen Aides Keep Busy

For the six dozen teen-agers o the area who have been "volun teening" this summer to serve their community in various phases of Red Cross activity there is no such problem as being bored with 'nothing to do."

A staggering number of hours has been contributed by these high school students, serving in the water safety program at the three high school pools of the Sequoia High School district, at the Sequoia Hospital, at the Crystal Springs Home and at the Red Cross Chapter House.

They have been on duty from the middle of June through August, according to Mrs. E. E Ames, chairman of the Office of Volunteers for the Southern San Mateo County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

In the water safety program alone the hours donated totalled 810 from 25 teen-agers working as water safety aides. Hours given averaged 32 and ranged as high as one girl's total of 117. Water safety aides complete a 16-hour course before serving.

They work under the direction of the swimming instructors and also help in keeping records for the classes.

Among those aides were Pat Cryer, Susan Gray, Jill Harker, Mary Hirschboeck, Jo Ann Leenerts, Pat Maher, Sharon McIntire, Robert Rhinehardt, Sandy Tofanelli and Margaret Waites of Menlo Park and Nancy Brumm, Nancy Kornblith Karen Mikkelsen, Sue Roberts, Lynn Silverman, and Marilyn Werstead of Atherton.

Serving as extra hands and feet at the Sequoia hospital is another group, all girls, who have donated a half-day a week this summer. These "junior Gray Ladies" are kept busy at such jobs as sorting and delivering patients' mail and newspaper shopping for patients, folding towels, writing letters and dispensing friendliness as well.

These girls include Marina Bryner, Jan Gray, Kathie Nelson and Jean Schueddig of Menlo Park and Carolyn Carson, Mary Linforth, Lynda Nicolai, Jennifer Perrin and Ann Wade of Atherton.

A smaller group give similar services to the patients at Crystal Springs Home where the girls serve meal trays, help to feed patients and take them out in wheel chairs. Debbie Oppenheimer of Atherton and Sharon Crago of East Palo Alto have given their time to this service.

Teen-age volunteers also contributed 330 hours of work at the Red Cross Chapter house on Middlefield road Menlo Park, as switchboard operators and receptionists, and in helping with filing and typing.

Kay Bechtel, Linda Gutknecht, Joan Lusch and Susan Cantrill of Menlo Park have helped to staff the desk in addition to Mary Linforth and Sharon McIntire who doubled in other volunteer jobs.

Judith Hansen Bride of G. W. Somers Jr.

George Willard Somers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Willard Somers of Woodside, claimed as his bride Judith Frances Hansen, daughter of George F. Hansen and the late Mrs. Hansen of San Francisco, at the St. Francis Episcopal Church August 23.

The 4 p.m. ceremony was conducted by the Rev. E. M. Pennell Jr., and the bride was escorted to the altar by her father. The altar to which he escorted her was decorated on each side by large standards of white delphinium, agapanthus and pink roses.

BRIDAL GOWN

Judy chose a gown of white silk, styled on princess lines. The fitted bodice featured a scoop neckline accentuated with seed pearls. The skirt, falling to a chapel sweep, was raised in front by a small bow.

Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a small pearl crown and the bride carried a cascading bouquet of lilies of the valley.

ATTENDANTS

Judy was preceded down the aisle bordered by white and pink flowers by her six attendants. Sally Griffith was maid of honor, and the five bridesmaids were Linda and Barbara Hansen, sisters of the bride, Patty Somers, the bridegroom's sister, and two former classmates of the bride, Elisa Excamilla and Gal Shafer.

The attendants were attired in matching street length gowns of ivory embroidered organdy over pink, featuring square scooped necklines, abbreviated sleeves, and carried pink elf roses.

Standing with George as best man was John McComish. The ushers seating guests in the church were James C. Flood, George Gamble, Launce Gamble Jr., Don McCrea and Douglas Moore.

RECEPTION

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the San Francisco Bohemian Club. Background music was furnished by the Eddie Harkness orchestra, and the newlyweds greeted their guests before a large flower bordered window.

For her place in the receiving line, which was flanked by floral arrangements of white delphinium, agapanthus, and lilies of the valley, George's mother, Mrs. Somers Sr., wore a gown of royal blue imported slipper satin, and a matching veil accentuated by blue flowers.

HONOLULU

Before departing for a honeymoon in Honolulu, Judy changed into a suit of royal blue silk and a blue veil. Upon their return, the couple will enroll at the University of Utah, where both plan to complete their studies.

Judy, a former student at Miss Burke's, has studied at Smith's College and was a member of Alpha Phi sorority at the University of California.

George was released from the Army August 1, has studied at the Cate School, Lick Wilmerding and Menlo College.

JUDEE CHASKIN DA 5-1371

Here I am again to be your correspondent after two glorious months in Washington. Before starting off on the regular news, I wish to thank Judee Chaskin and Pat Neilson for the marvelous job they did during my absence.

Last week Lin Turner was the hostess for a large gathering in honor of Barbara Du Fresne and Ed Thomas. Some of those greeting the two were Jerry Benson, Jill Scott, Dave Skuce, Sue Clancy, Brent Lambert, Lynda Scott, Terry Holland, Jennifer Perrin, Larry Miller, Nicky Jenks, Kathy Farnsworth, Diana Hedge, Bob Clancy, and many more.

It was just an informal gathering and Joey Thorpe welcomed her guests and helped them to find "interesting subjects" to chat about. Dancing and talking were Dick Aced, Marilyn Parham, Eric Swegles, Betty Aced, Terry Baker, Penny Post, Kent Hull, Joan Kane, Bob Burkes, B. J. Post and Bob Reinhardt.

THE ORIENTAL TOUCH

Japanese lanterns provided a subdued atmosphere with an oriental theme as Debbie Dant and her co-hostess, Lila Desmond, worked to provide an evening of far eastern enchantment for Bill Mescke, Butch Gordon, Roger Patterson, Penny Base, John Potter, Diane Hardy, Cliff Davis, Ranny Riley, Dave Majerus, Sherry McDowell, Don Morey, Linda Allio, John Fuchino, Theresa Gerbo, Rich Cottrell, Mary Mahaney, Rex Jones, Jeanne Weltner, Paul Dallas and Sue Fehring.

The Mormon church-groups of Menlo Park and Palo Alto combined their efforts to produce a night of entertainment based on a gypsy theme. This took place last week and approximately 150 Paly and Menlo-Atherton students turned out for the fun.

AFS

Now a word from our AFS student who has spent the past two and a half months in gay and exciting France, Jeep Jones, of course. He's been going to many "lovely parties" and says that French dances "last all night and I've been to three in the last four days." After he and his French family visited the Castle Grignam they went on a picnic and then swimming in the River Lez. On the 19th of August he attended the World's Fair in Brussels along with all the other AFS students in France. On the 25th he met Lynn Larson who was passing the summer in Sweden and together they boarded the good ship Johan Von Oldenbarneveh.

Arriving home from a tour of the U.S. were Chuck and Mary Ott. They visited approximately 21 states in their three month vavation. Some of their hi-lights were visiting Maine, Disneyland, Tennessee, North Carolina, Washington, D.C., Indiana, Michigan, Yellowstone and Jackson Hole.

Judee Chaskin went on a two weeks vacation to Yellowstone and Jackson Hole, and who should she meet there by sheer coincidence? None other than the Otts!

Barb Maider is attending or rather did attend the World's Fair in Brussels. The only word she had to explain what it was like was "fabulous, just fabulous." The Fair spread out over two acres and Barb visited the pavilions of many countries. She said she was most impressed with those of the U.S. and Belgium. She also traveled to London, Amsterdam and Paris Her diet consisted mainly of "pastries, wine, and more pastries."

Barbara Randall was very surprised as some of her friends gathered to celebrate her "belated" 17th birthday. Helping Barbara polish off the cake and punch were Melissa Lowe, who planned and carried out the party, Cindy Henderson, Pat Meek, Jane Benidt, Judy Rowson, Diane Van Epern, Barbara Buckholtz, Mary Ann Linxwiler, Betty Cotton, Suzanne Horney, Kathy Hareid, Esther Klebe and Bonnie Bryson. Swimming, ping-pong and golf followed the refreshments.

Mary Ott was also surprised with a welcome home party. The day of fun started out at Wendy Ford's home and then Jan Osborn, Judy Grover, Pam Barbe, Betsy Kennedy, Judy Kline, Cindy Fraley, Ann Rovere, Bonnie Drury, Linda Davis, Judy Glenn, Barbara Blagen, "Doodie" Van Loben Sels, Nancy Sturgess, Muffie Schmitz, Judy Hayes, Marilyn Mercer, Janet Eldridge, Suzanne Flemming, Patty Harlan, Wendy Ford, and Mary Ott went swimming at the Alpine Country Club.

Chuck Ott, Bob Reinhardt, Jim Bourne and Blake Franklin attended a fair on Sunday, the 31st. They started off at 8 a.m. and walked around for five and a half hours taking in the "exhibitions and sights."

Dottie Grove got a group of her friends and, together, they kidnapped Rae Marston and took her to Terry Bakers' house for a surprise and welcome home party (Rae had just returned from Tahoe). Swimming, dancing, playing games, and eating were Dottie, Terry, Charlie Johnson, Kent Hull, Hank Fullenwider, Eric Swegles, Bob Flegel, Mike Johnson, Dick Aced, Dick Green, Rae, Bonnie McBrien, Lynda Nicolai, Liz Kennedy, Peg Snyder, Libby Eberhardt, Penny Post, Carol Stevenson and Joan Starkweather.

. . AND FINALLY

Lin Turner was the hostess for a large gathering in honor of Barbara DuFresne and Ed Thomas. many M-Aites were there — too. Some of the guests were Jerry Benson, Jill Scott, Dave Skuce, Sue Clancy, Brent Lambert, Lynda Scott, Terry Holland, Jennifer Perrin, Larry Miller, Nicky Jenks, Kathy Farnsworth, Diana Hedge, Bob Clancy, Lin, and many more.

"It was just in informal gathering" and Joey Thorpe was welcoming her guests and helping them to find "interesting" subjects to talk about. Dancing was also practiced and those attempting this unusual feat were Marylou Parham, Eric Swegles, Betty Aced, Terry Baker, Penny Post, Kent Hull, Joan Kane, Bob Burkes, B.J. Post, Bob Reinhardt, Joyce, Jerry Anderson, Dick Aced and Joey.

Japanese lanterns provided a subdued atmosphere with an Oriental theme. Debbie Dant with her co-hostess, Lila Desmond, worked together to provide an evening of far-eastern enchantment. Those bewitched were Bill Meseke, Debbie, Butch Gordon, Lila, Roger Patterson, Penny Bass, John Potter, Diana Hardy, Cliff Davis, Ranny Riley, Dave Majerus, Sherry McDowell, Don Morey, Linda Allio, John Fuchino, Theresa Gerbo, Rich Cottrell, Mary Mahaney, Rex Jones, Jeanne Weltner, Paul Dallas and Sue Fehring.

The LDS church youth groups of Palo Alto and Menlo Park combined their efforts to produce a night of entertainment based on a gypsy theme. Many Paly and Menlo-Atherton students got together in a "friendly" manner.
